

Online car insurance can make you look cool

Hoot Top Ten Car Accessories

Yes, online car insurance can make you look cool. Well, your car at least.

Here at the Hoot office we have scoured every available resource to find you the ten most desirable accessories for your supercool motor vehicle (Ok, so we had a couple of mugs of coffee, dunked a chocolate hob-nob or two, and a few ideas were thrown into the brainstorming flat cap).

10. Pink Things

Hands up! This one came from the only female in the office at the time. She mentioned something about a pink car maintenance kit and some pink wheel rims. Ummmm, Yes?

Pink things are only cool if you are a girl, under 25 and your car is kept well away from your boyfriend, your boyfriend's house, your boyfriend's whole life, in fact.

9. Fluffy Dice

Yes, we're on 'dangerously-close-to-the-pink things' territory here, but we have found some great boxing glove rear view mirror hangers available from www.extremeautoaccessories.co.uk. They come in all sorts of national flag colours and look pretty cool to us. AND, if you scroll up you'll find leopard print fluffy dice for the schmoozers amongst you. Nice!

NB. Our esteemed female colleague is now back in the office and we have all agreed that pink things and fluffy dice are actually very cool. Honestly!

8. Decals

Stickers and decals can be a bit naf, but with a bit of hunting around and serious consideration regarding the statement you want to make, accessorising your car with top notch decals can be a fairly simple way of upping the style ante. Take a look at the selection offered by www.demongraphics.co.uk. They have everything from "pow pow" gangsta' bullet holes to full professional sponsor stacks for your rally car. Our particular favourite decal, is the Superman bonnet sticker, at £19.99, and we are reliably informed that if you get one of these you are required by law to wear your pants over your trousers.

7. Exhaust Piece

Oh, yes. What could be cooler than jazzing up your hatch back with a large and very shiny exhaust tail piece add-on? For a mere £26.99 you could bolt on the Urban X Big Bore and make believe you've got 10 cylinders under your tiny bonnet. Cooler still, this little add-on won't affect your online car insurance like the added cylinders would.

6. Spoiler

Practical and stylish, that's what we are talking about. A sports spoiler can lift your car from the ordinary to the extraordinary. On UK roads you will sadly never get to the speed required for the downforce to create a difference to the handling of your car, but if you want your vehicle to look super speedy you better get a spoiler.

5. Chrome

You can never have too much chrome on a car, that's what the Hoot car insurance team say. OK, so chrome car mats are metal-gone-mad, but with the odd touch of shiny silver kept in gleaming condition your car is bound to catch the sophisticated passing eye. The Americans go in for chrome accessories big time and there's a lot more choice from across the pond, but we did manage to find some super snazzy chrome wing mirrors from www.essexracing.com for £35.

4. Light kits

Forget the bling of neon bonnet bulbs and underglow kits, we're talking about head and tail light sets that will set you apart from the average Joe Astra. We found some fantastic lights for Fiat Punto 2000-2003 models on the ExtremeAutoAccessories website. The SS896 Lexus Lights are retro 50's bubble casings that look like they belong on a Thunderbirds space craft. Frankly, we think they are soooooo cool, you might just freeze your bits off whilst attaching them.

3. Suspension kit

We have it on good authority that lowering the suspension on your car is a very cool thing to do. Of course, for this one you will have to own a tool kit and be prepared to get dirty. Here is some advice we found about lowering your suspension from Steve Warner at www.chevyhiperformance.com

"If you really want the lowest car in the neighborhood, extreme measures are in order, entailing serious frame modifications and some floorboard re-shaping as well as frame reconstruction. One of the oldest methods for the severe rear ride stance is Z-ing or C-notching the rear frame rails so the axle has room to travel. Usually, both methods require floorboard surgery because of the new frame kick-up. Unless you are an expert welder and know how to set the proper pinion and driveline angles and replace the floor sheet-metal, this should probably be left to the professionals."

Yeah.....right.....!

2. Stereo

We all love super sounds in our vehicle, so a flash in-car audio system is worth its weight. Gone are the days when fifteen CD cases would clatter around in the passenger seat footwell; with the advent of MP3 and USB compatible equipment you can take your whole music collection with you wherever you drive. Continuous music is also much safer as there is no need to try to lean over to find the School Daze compilation that your best mate from college leant you after A levels and you never gave back because you couldn't bear to part with all those memories....So that's just me then is it?

Anyway, get some decent speakers and a subwoofer and you've got rings on your fingers and bells on your toes, and a sound system to impress whoever you want to impress.

1. Hoot online car insurance

Finally, the one thing that really does add 'cool' to your car - Hoot online car insurance for young drivers. There's no getting away with it, literally, car insurance should be the best you can possibly afford. It makes you and your vehicle sub-zero.

Here at Hoot we are all about style and choice. We are an efficient online car insurance company who save money on unnecessary stuff like flashy adverts and high street premises. We then pass those savings on to you in the form of cheap young driver car insurance.

Go ahead, see for yourself. Give us a call on 0800 954 9756 with all your details to hand and in three minutes flat we will search over thirty insurance companies to find you the best quote. Then all you have to do is decide which one of our top ten car accessories you are going to buy with the dosh you just saved.

Personally, now I've got the number one accessory, Hoot online car insurance sorted, those pink alloy rims are sounding quite interesting!